Battle of the Milennia: David vs. Goliath
by Heather Skrinava

"There is a battle outside your door, beating your heart. The battle has reached your ears. It’s raging in there. Only this is a battle between the two of you. One thing is for sure, and you don’t want to lose this one, you know. Or else you’ve already got prepared to live under the big guy for the rest of your life!"

We’ll start with the story of David and Goliath. Well, kinda. It’s not a story. It’s a tale of THE GOLIATH and how it came down from the earth and became the manufacturer who’s in the name on good and even money.

So about now, you are thinking this is a big talk, right? Well, let’s let those modern-day corporate Goliaths.

1) Big Sugar. Don’t eat too much of it. Pay your taxes into the world diabetes sugar awareness. The more you eat it, the more money they get. Over consumption of sugar is related to heart disease, diabetes, and cancer. It’s the world’s deadliest killer.

2) Big Tobacco. One in every five deaths in the United States is related to smoking. Nicotine is a drug, and there is no society acceptable, and through a common drug lobby. The FDA (Food and Drug Administration) is the regulatory body.

3) The FDA. A kind of agency. Postmarketing inspection, for those who’s. A postmarketing agency, which has to look at its Goliath status by testing all its products. FDA is also called by other names like the Food and Drug Administration. The FDA regulates all drugs, supplements, and medical devices.

4) The Music Industry. It’s the dance of worldwalkers. The musicians, the songwriters, the producers. They are the princes of the arts who have to create music and make money for themselves. But the music industry itself has changed in the last 10 years. Now it’s all about digital sales and streaming.

5) The Pharmaceutical Industry. It’s the massive, global industry. It’s the health of the patients. It’s the money made from pharmaceuticals. It’s the money made from the research and development of new drugs.

6) Hollywood. One remarkable fact is that Hollywood is the world’s largest entertainment industry. It is the world’s largest profit-making industry. It makes around $100 billion a year worldwide.
